Supernuman, the lavorite, took the steeplechase rather handily. Syosset evidently was only out for a schooling. Powers poked along away back throughout the first turn of the field. He made no apparent effort to get up in time to bid for the brackets, though Syosset was full of running at the end. Here is one that will bear watching next time out.

Lyke brought home the bacon with two favorites and added accordingly to his popularity. He scored with Jyntee over the five-and-a-half furlongs straight in the third and reseated with Flittergold over the mile route in the Mineola Handicap. In both of these evetts Lyke showed excellent horse-masship. He was required to ride both mounts with everything at the command of his experience through the stretch both times.

Jyntee outgamed Sylvestra and Inta Frank, who were only inches apart at the end. Nobody knew who won the fifth till the numbers were posted. The first three were not separated by more than a fout's distance. Indeed.

The first three were not separated by more than a foot's distance. Indeed, many were dissatisfied with the verdict of the judges, being firm in the helief that Lyke had not been quite able to get up with Flittergold and that Dorcas had really won.

The Westchester Racing Association has designated Friday, June 7, as Cross Day. All the receipts from that day's racing will be donated to the Red Cross. A special Red Cross Handicap at a mile, for two-year-olds, is expected to bring out the best juveniles. The club will put on sale for the day twenty boxes at $25 each.

J. H. Rosseter, of California, was: a visitor at Belmon, yesterday. Mr. Rosseter lost the splendid stallion Sur Flower and superbly bred English mares on the Minnehaha when that steamer was torpedoed. Though the loss involved more than $100,000, Mr. Rosseter is not discouraged. He purchased Disguise at the Wickliffe sale and is breeding some of his best mares to him.

De Palma Favorite For Harkness Honor

Chevrolet, Resta, Mulford, Oldfield, Vail and Other Demon Drivers, Because of Handicaps, Assure One of Most Open Races of Auto History

By Louis Lee Arms

Over the two-mile board track speedway at Sheepshead Bay this fternoon at 3 o'clock, the veteran starter, Fred J. Wagner, will send on ts way in the 100-mile Harkness Handicap the greatest field of machines and drivers that ever was brought together in an American motor fixture.

The expectations are that virtually every car in the race will, at one ime or another, turn up speed at the rate of two miles to the minute, and he winning machine will have to cover the century dash in less than an our. In this same race last season Louis Chevrolet, the winner and scratch man in to-day's event, averaged 110 miles an hour, and could have done better. With Resta out and de Palma far back the gallant Frenchman nursed his motor in the final stages of the 1917 contest and "coasted"

Balph de Palma, with the latest type of aero motor in a Packard chassis, has been installed a favorite in to-day's mee. The experts believe that the dashing Italian has the fastest machine, and a durable one, and they take into account de Palma's uncanny ability to nurse his motor and yet get everything out of it that is humanly possible. Barney Oldfield, the racing reteran, and his "golden submarine" are figured to have all in their favor that speed and experience should logically confer, while it is certain that Dario Resta. Ralph Mulford and others have it in them to win a race calling up sustained effort if they are at the top of their form.

Louis Chevrolet, the 1917 champion, has indicated that he believes his hance to win. starting from scratch, is slim, but those who watched the fitty-four-year-old Frenchman run sway from the field last year feel that sonsibly the Gallic driver is afflicted with an undue sense of modesty, and hase will not count him out of it unil he actually is out of it.

The trials and tribulations of a 100-alle race are so many and multiform hat as a matter of fact there logically an be no overwhelming favorite in unch a race, and one man's guess is as good as another. Motor troubles, tire troubles and accidents are the three outstanding elements that have written long chapters in the history of American motor races. None can terget, as an illustration, that de Pala, leading his field by seven miles at hadianapolis, not many years ago, troke a connecting rod within sight of the finishing line and lost the race into consideration every detail of every into the fire of track record for and chassis. In Brooklyn Show To-day

The seventeenth annual show of the Long Island Kennel Club takes place this afternoon at the Gravesend racetrack, where a full list of fifty-seven standard breeds will be on exhibition. An entry list of over 500 of the best dogs in the East has been received for the different classes, so the show can easily be put down as one of the best of the season.

An enormous array of challenge cups, specials and cash prizes have been offered to the amount of about $7,000. In the Boston terrier class no less than 101 unclassified specials are up for competition, and for the Pomeranians there are twenty-nine unclassified special awards.

50-to-1 Shot Wins Thousand Guineas Classic for Fillies

The One Thousand Guineas, the first English classic of the year for fillies, ever seen on the English turf. The race came off at Newmarket over the Rowley Mile, and among a field of and neck for the position of favorite.

At the post Benevente was 11 to 10 and My Dear went out at 6 to 4 Neither won, but the victor came like a streak of lightning out of the ruck and paralyzed the top-notchers. The filly to cause the upheaval is named Ferry, owned by Lord Derby. She went to the post almost friendless at 50 to 1. While the owner and trainer knew that

While the owner and trainer knew that the youngster had come on wonderfully from her two-year-old season, they had no idea as to her real worth.

After the start My Dear and Benevente broke away in front, with nothing else in it to all appearances. Benevente gained on My Dear, but with only about 300 yards to go Ferry came with a rush, and My Dear took up her pace, with the result that she and Ferry flew past the favorite. On the gallop to the post Ferry was too much for My Dear, and won by a couple of lengths, with Herself third and Benevente fourth.

Wins With Little Effort This last race was six furlongs over the straight. Polymelian came home with little more effort than she had shown going to the post. It was just a canter. Fairbrother, who had the mount, did give the colt his head momentarily shortly after the start. His colt raced away from the field as if it were still standing. Fairbrother had his charge under wraps throughout the last three furlongs and still won by the good lengths, within two seconds of the track record. From his race of yesterday it would appear that Polymelian has come to his own at last. The colt appears in superb condition. None who saw him but believes he might easily have shattered a world's record had he been asked to display all his speed. Polymelian, imported as a yearling, went wrong as a two-year-old and was turned out. Later it was attempted to bring him back, but he was not yet ready. He was next given a long rest with the result that he came back yesterday as fine a prospect as has graced Belmont Park or any other racing establishment in many a year. Though Polymelian was favorite of this race, the big play was made on Commodore J. K. L. Ross's imported Wigstone. This one never had a chance with the fleet chestnut, but just failed to land the place money from Jasq au Bout.
